

NRG Expert Electrical Supply Industry Database 2012

---

Comprehensive Intelligence

Spanning four primary sectors (generation, transmission, distribution and supply) and involving many diverse players worldwide, the Electrical Supply Industry is large and complex. National markets differ considerably, with competition having been introduced in some national markets for generation and supply while privatization has occurred in other markets. Meanwhile, transmission and distribution are natural monopolies since electricity must be delivered via common lines.

Navigating this industry requires detailed information. This NRG Expert database provides it, offering a comprehensive, by country listing of active companies in this industry worldwide. Compiled from many sources over 11 years, this database offers the knowledgebase needed to understand this industry.

Product Scope

This database offers a truly global perspective and includes over 9000 listings. It indicates whether each plant is used for generation, transmission, distribution or supply. Contact information is also provided.
